

Dear Drainage Contractor

Thank you for showing an interest in NADC membership

The purpose of the prospectus is to make sure you have all the necessary information to consider joining the Association.

NADC Prospectus

What Are the Aims & Objectives of NADC?

- (a) To provide training and certification and promote qualified drainage professionals.
- (b) To provide commentary, guidance, and advice on regulatory developments of relevance to members.
- (c) To lobby on behalf of the industry with The Government, Water Companies, and other stakeholders.
- (d) To make DrainSafe the nationally recognised approved contractor quality scheme on which customers can rely.
- (e) To drive more business for you through the NADC website as a direct result of you being an NADC member

Why You Should Join The NADC? By the Industry, For the Industry

Until NADC was formed, there was no recognised body that solely represents and promotes the interests of the drainage contracting industry

NADC is made up entirely of people actively working in the industry. In other words, it is the industry setting its own future agenda and destiny.

The Ultimate Benefits of Membership

Membership of NADC and NADC itself is geared to delivering long term benefits:

- National recognition for professionalism through membership of NADC and the opportunity to register with DrainSafe.
- Full Accreditation through recognised training for all aspects of drainage services.
- Channels for new work open only to NADC members and DrainSafe registered contractors.
- Preferred supplier status among large drainage services procurers.
- Official representation of the services you are trained to offer by Energy and Utility Skills certified cards.

Who Should Join The NADC?

All drainage contractors are welcome together with suppliers, consultants, advisers, and trainers.

N.A.D.C.

National Association of Drainage Contractors
Committed to Certified Drainage Contractors

How are my Subscriptions Invested?

NADC is a not-for-profit organisation. This means there are no shareholders to pay dividends to and so all the funds are dedicated to moving the NADC forward via.

Our aims are to:

- Attract as many members as we can to continue building a strong Association (you can help by passing on details of NADC to colleagues, suppliers and even your competitors.)
- Create a 'recognised voice' for our membership so we can have a say in the future of our industry with the Government, the water companies, and other stakeholders.
- Continue building an industry community through our website and social media
- Create and develop an annual Drainage Awards event to celebrate our industry and recognise excellence.

What Commitments Do You Have to Give?

There are only a few commitments you need to give to be a member of NADC – and they are all very affordable ways of making an NADC member stand head and shoulders above non-members:

- Commit to your operatives being fully certified to undertake the services they provide your customers. If operatives are not fully certified at the time of application, you must undertake that they will be certified within three months.
- Confirm each year that your operatives certification is up to date.
- Commit to a whole year's membership and subscription.
- Commit to our Standards which in addition to being fully qualified for the work you do, require you be insured, be professional and fair, have a complaints procedure, and do not bring NADC into disrepute

Why You Should Take Action Now & Join?

You can help us shape the future of the industry. We are stronger together as an association of like-minded businesspeople rather than individuals.
